EMM Reach New Heights at The Shard, London

Standing at a breath-taking 1,016 feet tall, The Shard is the tallest building in Western Europe and now represents an iconic symbol of modern London. As a pre-Christmas excursion, some of the team at EMM International made the rapid 800-foot elevator ascent in order to witness the unparalleled 360 degree panorama of London's night-time skyline.

After the inevitable 'find the office from the top' game, we spent some time attempting to capture the beauty of the city, including the spectacular view of Tower Bridge illuminated at night, from our various smartphones. We continued up to the highest viewing gallery on Level 72 which we found to be partially open to the elements, enabling us to look up to the top shards of glass cutting through the sky. Everyone enjoyed viewing the city from this unique standpoint and agreed that the experience was certainly not one to be missed.
